CLIPPER WINGS WAY TOWARDS COLONY ON HISTORIC FLIGHT

Establishes Record for Hop To Macao From Manila

HIGH OFFICIALS AWAIT GIANT PLANE AT KAI TAK AIRPORT

Manila Bay was still shrouded in darkness this morning when the Hongkong Clipper, giant 32-passenger Pan-American seaplane inaugurating the final link in a round-the-world airways, took off for Hongkong.

The machine left the water a few minutes after 5 a.m. Few people outside Manila airport officials witnessed the commencement of a flight momentous in the history of aviation in the Pacific.

Immediately after it skimmed from the surface of the water, the Clipper was in communication by radio with the airport at Kai Tack. Constant communication was maintained on short wave until the plane landed at Macao.

A Reuter message from Manila reports that the Clipper is carrying 1,400 lbs. of mail, the vast majority of which has been despatched by philatelists in the United States and Europe. It is also carrying a large consignment of express freight, including samples of American goods. The flight from Manila to Macao was uneventful. Periodic radio messages to Kai Tak announced that visibility was generally excellent, although at times the plane was flying blind through clouds.

The Cupper landed at Macao at 10.10 a.m., making a record of 4 hours 50 minutes for the 780-mile crossing.

Large crowds lined the waterfront in the Portuguese Colony, and thrilled as the Sikorsky made a graceful landing inside the breakwater. The sirmen landed at the special Pan-American Wharf and were officially welcomed by His Excellency the Governor, Senhor Barbosa. A large quantity of mail was taken off at Macao, while other mail was shipped for America.

The Clipper is expected to take of Fourteenth Round from Macao at 11.15 a.m., and will land in Kowloon Bay at 11.55 a.m.

An official welcome will be tendered shortly after noon. The enti ceremony will be relayed by ZB and KZRM, Manila.

The House of Commons to-day agreed to the Budget resolution authorising the imposition of the National Defence Contribution, otherwise known as the Growth of Profits Tax.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of Exchequer, said he was convinced the outlined scheme was right and he had no intention of withdrawing his proposals, in spite of the opposition from members on his own side of the House.

That part of the proposals not yet formulated was sufficiently important to justify him in saying that no accurate or sufficient judgment could be formed upon it until the House and country had fuller information. He regarded the proposal as mild and moderate and did not think it would impose an intolerable burden on industry. Preventing Injustice

Mr. Chamberlain said he considered the suggested estimate of a yield from the tax totalling from £50,000,000 to £250,000,000 as fantastic, and intimated he was prepared to reconsider the profits dustrial experience, said Mr. Chamstandard, basing it on the average berlain. He had also received comprofits from 1933 to 1935.

Mr. Chamberlain was fully aware of the very great unxiety in many quarters and the disturbance securities. But he considered these disturbances very exaggerated and based on insufficient information. Willing To Reconsider

Referring back to the profits standard, based on average profits over a period of three years past, the Chancellor said he was quite prepared to reconsider his selection of the years 1933 to 1935, either by way of a choice being given to: the taxpayer as between different years, or by adding other years to those suggested. There might even be a combination of both schemes: Mr. Chamberlain intimated that

Country Captain

This makes a tasty dish.

Cut I lb. sausages into halves length-ways. Line a deep piedish with them. Make one pint white sauce, pour some over the sausages and sprinkle with some brown breaderumbs. Put in a layer of chopped hard-boiled eggs and a little more sauce, then a good layer of crumbs. Pour over the remainder of the sauce, then a good layer of crumbs. sauce, then a good layer of crumbs. Pour over the remainder of the sauce, and bake slowly for half an

Sausages and Carrots

An appetising dish for dinner is made by using this recipe. Take 1½ or 2 lb, sausages and boll in a little water. Slice two or three carrots in rings and boil with the sausages until cooked. When 'cooked, take out the sausages and thicken the liquid with a little cornflour (with the carrots in). Serve with mashed potatocs.

Egg and Sausage Doughnuts

Dellelous for breakfast or supper are these doughnuts. Chop two hard-boiled eggs, add two tablespoonfuls each breadcrumbs and grated cheese, a pinch of curry powder, and a dust of cayenne pepper. Bind together with a beaten egg. Form into balls, dip in batter, and fry a golden brown. -Fry the required amount of pork sausages formed into rings by tying ends of sausages together. When done, lift out of pan, place two rings of sausage on each plate, and place two egg balls in each ring. Scatter a little grated cheese over before

Sausage Rings

Take 1 lb, sausages, dip into boiling water then skin them. Cut into rounds with a pastry cutter six slices bread, then with a smaller cutter cut a ring out of the centre, thus making rings of the bread. Mince the scraps of bread left over, place in a dish and add the sausages meat, a teaspoonful powdered sage, 1 oz. oatmeal, and-pepper and salt to taste. Bind with two eggs well beaten, mix well and form into balls. Roll in breadcrumbs, and cook in a pan of deep fat for ten minutes until a golden brown. Fry the rings of bread until brown on both sides. Place on a hot dish, press a sausage ball into the centre and serve very hot.

A Favourite Dish

This is a favourite dish. Take three pork sausages, remove the skin and break them into small pieces. Chop an onion finely and remove the pips and skins of two tomatoes. Cook the sausage meat and onions first in butter at the foaming stages. When nearly done, add the tomatoes, cut in small pieces. Season well and put into a piedish. Break four eggs over it, sprinkle with grated cheese, and cook in the oven or under the grill.

Murder Drama In U.S.

Charlottesville, Apr. 15. CHARGE of first degree murder against Richard G. Miller for death of Miss Cleo shattered serenity of this little college town where the ivy-covered walls of the University of Virginia lend a placidity of unruffled calm.

On the night of March 1 lights, gleamed in dormitory windows as hard-working students bent over their desks, unaware that a heinous crime was being committed outside their windows where a low wall sepasates their little world from that outside. It was against this wall that the body of Miss Sprouse was found, with a chloroform can balanced on her face cotton stuffed into her on the ground nearby, which the murderer left in order to make it appear that she had taken her own life.

ANESTHIZED GIRL

According to the doctor's confesion, he anesthized the girl, who been one of his many sweethearts, preparatory to performing an illegal operation on her in the rear seat of a borrowed automobile. Authorities sought fruitlessly for the real motive which drove the white-haired dentist to chloroform the pretty girl.

Commonwealth Attorney W.O. Fife disbelieved the doctor's explanation and no one who knew either the dentist or the dead girl believed the doctor's story. Instead, the authorities were firmly convinced the sportsman - dentist planned the crime in cold blood, callously having intimate relations with Miss Sprouse a few moments before he pressed cotton saturated with an anesthetic over her nostrils. BIZZARRE THEORIES

The theories offered to explain the -Says Mrs. Hagen crime spread over a bizarre range. It was even hinted that the 53-year old dentist, wearying of normal love affairs,-which-he-carried-on-clandestinely under the nose of his fashionable choir-singing wife for years, induced young Cleo to join him in esoteric practices, and that the crime was a thrill slaying, or a "passion crime." Police pointed out that this theory would explain the many incongruities in the doctor's murder pleas, as he left so much evidence around the body. The chief stumbling block to the authorities was the doctor's insistence that he planned an illegal operation on a girl five months pregnant in so unlikely a place as an automobile on a country road. They point out that, with his scientific training, he never would have attempted so impossible an operation.

STANDARD FEES . Furthermore, 'the country where the crime was committed, has more than one practioner who will perform an abortion operation with a standard fee of $25 for married women and $50 for single girls. Miller, had he so desired, could easily have arranged for the services of one of these. The fee would have been small change for the easy-spending dentist. It he did not wish to run "It seems to me, where men are the risk of gossip in the little college concerned golf is a new kind of town, Richmond, Virginia, only a few madness. Marry a golfer and miles away, would have been an you're half way to the Divorce ideal place for an illegal operation. Court before you get to the altar." The charming, magnetic Maurice Chevalier returns to the screen in Columbia's newest musical romance, "The Beloved Vagabond," which opens at the Queen's Theatre to-day. He's back as you'll like him, too. The irrepressible, irresistible Chevalier singing his tantalizing French tunes, playing the dramatic role of a lovable vagabond with twinkling comedy and deep understanding. As "Paragot," leader of a famous nomad orchestra, playing here, there and everywhere, with his inseparable companions, Blanquette and Asticot, superbly play-ed by Margaret Lockwood and Des-mond Tester, Chevalier is completely charming. The story, a compact, well-written musical drama, concerns the adventures of Gaston de Nerac disappointed suitor for the hand of Joanna. Crest-fallen, de Nerac forsakes his native England for France in an effort to forget. Accompanied by his young protege, Asticot, they live the romantic life of vagabonds. One day they encounter Blanquette, French peasant girl. Together they form the "Orchestra Paragot," de Nerac, playing the accordion and singing, Blanquette dancing and Asticot beating the drums. When de Nerae's romance with Joanna is revived after her hushand's death, the happy trio dissolves. But the fascination of the open road is too strong and on the eve of his marriage to Joanna, de Nerac leaves again, this time to remain with Blanquete as husband and wife. The performances of the principals provide freshness and charm that characterizes the entire story. Director Kurt Bernhardt has treated the story with 'whimsleal charm, combining a delightful romance with a sparkling musical drama.

COLLECTIVE ACTION AGAINST DISEASE

When sailing ships gave place to steamships in the last century; not only did passengers travel more easily and safely so also did disease. Great Britain and other Western countries were menaced with cholera and other plagues brought by ships from the East, and each country tried to protect itself with quarantine rules of its own. They did not succeed. Trade was delayed and disease still entered freely and frequently. Each epidemic after 1851 was followed by an International Conference and it soon became clear that only by havling a common quarantine system | and an international body to administer it could the nations be freed from danger. It took forty years to persuade Governments to face the facts and acinternational control. This they did at long last in 1892. Since the invention of wireless and the creation of the League of Nations it has become possible to fight disease by an easier and cheaper international method. As the Far East is the danger spot, the League has established an Eastern Office of its Health Organisation at Singapore. This office is in contact with some 180 ports all over the Indian and Pacific Oceans and receives from those ports and supplies to them by wireless rapid notification regarding epidemics. To show how the League Office works an example may be taken of a ship from China arriving, say, at Sydney which is known to have touched during its voyage at a port where a number of cases of plague have occurred since the ship left. The rats on board may therefore be infected. Singapore broadcasts the news quarantine. In this way the which is picked up in Australia League has saved the world's and the health authorities in shipping many thousands Sydney are informed. As consequence, on the ship's artins of Three Bear Oats rival steps are taken to prevent telligence work, the League's the rats coming on shore and possibly infecting the shore rats with plague. The ship is moored some distance off the quayside, the cargo unloaded in ratproof sheds, and each bale or

IF you are an average man (or woman), then you will live till you are fifty-seven. But nobody is absolutely average. And there is no reason why you should not live quite a bit longer than statistics allow you.

15 Mark yourself from 1 to 25 according to how much love and affection you feel for one or more of the opposite sex, or for children, or for people in general, or for life as a whole. (You can choose which, according to which rates highest). If you 'are one of those' who are not deeply, emotionally interested in any of these and are cynical about life, put down

First of all, here is a test which, if you follow it conscientiously, will tell you round about what age you will die. At the same time, most of the fifteen questions it asks gives you some sound advice which should help you to increase that age. If it comes out that you haven't as long to live as you would like, then these questions give you your remedy.

Naturally, the "Methuselah test" cannot be regarded as - scientifically accurate, and therefore shouldn't be taken too seriously; but it gives a rough general indication, and in any ease the mere answering of the questions is a good mental exercise. They are based on research work by psychologists and doctors, and one of the questions is supplied by a doctor who recently died at the age of a hundred. The age is arrived at by a system of marking, which at first may look a little complicated, but which is, in fact, quite simple.

London, Apr. 25. Great Britain, fearing that in the "next war" her vulnerable little island will, be subjected to serial bombardments vastly more terrible than those of the world war, is working overtime to catch up and keep pace with the continental powers in the air armaments race.

Britain awoke to that situation with a rude shock. The sudden, disconcerting revelation just two years ago that Germany had stealthily achieved air parity startled her into furious action.

So deep is the military secrecy of the dictatorial nations that the British intelligence service was badly deceived, and only four months before the discovery, Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin was led into informing the House of Commons that Britain was 50 per cent, superior to Germany in air strength.

Then Hitler blandly revealed to Sir John Simon, at that time foreign secretary, that Germany's air power equalled Britain's the government at once initiated a great emergency expansion programme, nearly tripling the average expenditure of the previous few years.

Now again Britain has boosted the ante with 1937 air estimates of £82,000,000, which is £32,000,000 above last year's and compares with an average of £18,000,000 before Hitler's surprising announcement.

BALLOON BARRAGE

The most remarkable defence scheme is a vast hedge of balloons around the capital, anchored at a great height, between which will be power, suspended aprons of heavy, dangling wires designed to entangle the propellors of enemy aircraft and crash them. Critics contend that modern planes fly high enough to surmount the balloon barrage.

POISONERS Additional orecautions are batteries of anti-aircraft guns, and a device called a "predictor" which can automatically compute an airplane's future position. Twenty thousand men from the territorials (militin) are being enlisted in the anti-aircraft division.

Twelve giant airliners, the largest for regular transport service in the world, are under construction for Imperial Airways by Sir W. G. Armstrong Whitworth Aircraft Ltd., at Hamble, near here. So big are the planes that a road is being especially built so that they may be rolled from the shops to a flying field.

An idea of their size may be gained from the dimensions of their tyres, six feet three inches in diameter and two feet two inches wide. Despite this size, the landing-gear will be retracted, three-fourths of the big wheel sliding back and up into the wing when in flight.

Fully loaded, the planes will weigh 20 tons, one and onehalf tons more than Imperial's big flying boats. The cost will be between £40,000 and £45,000 each. FINCHER MUST BEAT SIRDAR RUMJAHN QUICKLY

ARRANGED FOR TO-MORROW

FINANCES SHOW ANOTHER LOSS

The annual meeting of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association will be held in the Board Room of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., at 5.30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday).

Afterwards there will be a meeting of the Council to receive entries for the tennis league and to elect an executive committee.

The annual report shows that a financial loss of $427,20 was incurred on the year's working, though the league showed a profit of $235,20.

The report reads as follows. The Executive Committee has much pleasure in submitting annual report for 1936 of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association.

LEAGUE

The League was run very successfully and proved to be as popular as usual. The new "D" Division was continued and was very well supported. It is hoped that the usual number of entries will be received for all divisions this season.

INTERPORT

There was no Interport with Shanghal, as unfortunately the Northern port was unable to send a representative team. An unomeial team however visited Hongkong. and some very interesting games were played at the C.R.C. and Slam also visited us and proved that they were quite worthy of con-sideration for Interport matches. They have several first class players. and it is hoped to arrange an Interport series with them in the near future.

No Interport was possible of arrangement with Canton.

VISITING PLAYERS

We had the pleasure of seeing the China Davis Cup team in action when passing through the Colony for the Davis Cup. Kho Sin-kee, proved to be far superior than on his previous visit here, and Gordon Lum was also in first class form. These two were the outstanding members of the team.

Later in the year we had the first opportunity of seeing past Wimoledon champions in exhibition 1927 beat T. Honda 8-6, 6-2, 6-1 matches. Messrs. W. T. Perry and another first class professional.

CHAMPIONSHIPS

The men's open championships were again well organised by the H.K.C.C. under the auspices of the H.K.L.T.A. The singles being again won by Tsui Wai-pui who was a previous winner in 1934 and who beat H. D. Rumjahn in the final, the latter making his first appearance in that round.

The Men's doubles provided a sensation, as the old champions Messrs, S. A. and H. D. Rumjahn were beaten in an early round by Tsui Wai-pui and Tsui Yun-pui. The Rumiahns had held the title for no less than eleven seasons, and will no doubt make every effort to regain probable starters and jockeys for the it this season.

The Ladies' championships were as announced to-day. usual very well managed by the U.S.R.C. The open singles was again won by Mrs. Wilson who beat Mrs. Mahomad, Sam Wragg will mount Dowling in the final. Mrs. Wilson Senior and Jones rides Sand Sprite. (Continued on Page 9.)

IN THE

To-day's 'ennis PROSPECTS

(By "Verlins")

At eight o'clock this morning the weather looked anything but promising for to-day's tennis championship semi-final between E. C. Fincher and S. A. Rumjalın. A drizzle was falling and further rain threatened. It is to be hoped there will be sufficient improvement to enable the match to be played, otherwise the organisers will be seriously handicapped in their efforts to bring the tournament to a close. In the assumption that the game will be played, I have made an effort to analyse the chances of the competitors in the accompanying article. would add that if the court is at all on the soft side, Fincher should enjoy an advantage which may well turn the game in his favour.

Perhaps there is nothing more curious about the history of the Hongkong singles tennis championship than the fact that despite their long associations with the tournament S. A. Rumjahn and E. C. Fincher have up to date met only once. This was in 1932 when they contested the final and Rumjahn won 6-2, 6-1,

To-day, then, they oppose each E.C. Fincher and S.A. Rumiahn in their semi-final appearances in the other in this event for the second Colony singles tennis' championship time. But on this occasion it is the semi-final. So far as my records go this will be Fincher's sixth appearance in the semi-final. Thrice so far he has advanced to the ultimate stage, but never has he won the championship.

AWFUL DEBACLE

However, he need not Worry about these lines: 1935 beat H.D. Rumjahn 11-9, 5-1, the 1931 tournament this afternoon. Or for that matter about the 1932 1936 lost to Tsul Wal-pul 1-6, 1-6, one, in which he bowed before his opponent of to-day.

Since then Fincher has learnt a lot about S. A. Ruminhn's tennis. The sort of knowledge which should be being ultra vires so far as the Interof some value to him. MUST WIN QUICKLY

Fincher's only real chance of winning is to do so quickly: in four sets at the outside. I quite expect to see him win the first set, chiefly because he settles down better than Rumjahn, who never fails to take half a dozen games to get into stride in matches of this importance. Point is whether, after that, Fincher can still maintain the initiative, and hold it long enough to prevent Rumjahn from getting into working order. It's a big proposition, but it re- for all League football's mains fincher's best hope of success. but we do say it is something and it F. Warner, who said: On the whole I would say Fincher has displayed more consistent form than Rumjahn during the current tournament, and this must have an important bearing on the match especially if the K.C.C. player can get his strokes functioning smoothly early on. Fincher will probably be out to slow the exchanges down to the minimum, knowing full well that Rumjahn thrives on speed and is less to see the plan, it is not clear whether the strenuous conditions in which professional football is played to-day we have got to try to make our referees foolproof. One bad decision may mean thousands of pounds to a club. Our only hope at the moment is the two referees scheme."

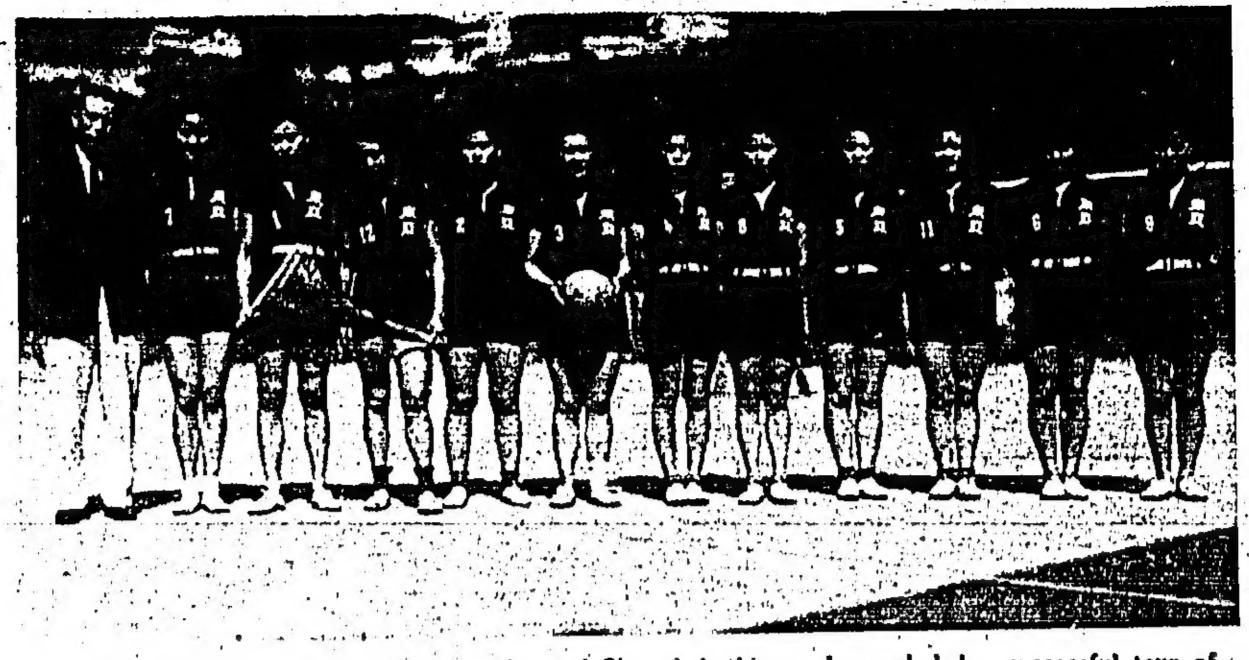

Reverting to the methods adopted by the County Associations against the plan, it is not clear whether the Rumjahn thrives on speed and is less the plan, it is not clear whether the happy when he has to drive a spin-ning ball from half court.

Rumjahn is bound to release the County Associations against ligaments were severely torn."

Subject will be placed on the agenda of the A.G.M. of the F.A. by the court as Fincher.

Thus we are promised at least a battle of tactics. If Fincher wins he will do so on his merits, but over a long distance match the odds are definitely in favour of Rumjahn.

Amateurs Opposed To Two Referees

HASTY ACTION BY THE ASSOCIATION

Law Would Be Made Optional

(By John Bell)

Forty thousand amateur clubs have ranged themselves in strong opposition to the prospective adoption of two referees for football through their County Associations by framing a resolution to be put to the annual general meeting of the F.A. in June.

At the same time Mr. W. C. Cuff (Vice-President of the Football League and sponsor of the scheme) emphasised to me that the amaicurs had entirely "misconceived the position." "The two referee plan," "was never intended to be arbitrarily applied to all football. Mrs. Smith probably hasn't the slightest Idea how she sounds when she is talking. We never listen to what we are saying because we're busy getting the words to follow lined up. People with strong locallsed accents will, rarely believe that they have accents (it is always the other person who has "such an awful acent, my dear").

PITY THE PUNCH-DRUNK MAN

MET the other day one of the most pathetic figures in modern sport—a punch-drunk boxer.

Once he was famous, in line for a world champlonship now, in the middle thirties, he is a finished man.

The boxer who fights and fights till his every reflex action is conditioned by the ring; the boxer who takes punishment about the face and head over and over again; the boxer driven by stark need of money, sometimes by sheer hunger, to singger into the ring and rely solely on Pres. Van Buren 8.00 a.m. May 23 Pres. Pierce his capacity to endure—this man is Pres. Garfield danger to the community and a peril to himself. He becomes-in the vivid phrase coined by boxers themselves-"punch-drunk."

In the ring he gets beaten with comparative case. This puts his price down and consequently drives him to take more and more engagements-while he can still command them. He aims at the mark and hits the ribs. He sees a blow coming and dodges into it instead of away

His face changes-externally developing "cauliflower cars" and other stigata of the old "pug" because he can no longer avoid the blows that rain on him. But the British Steamers: spirit and mind mirrored in his face changes too: the brain becomes affected by the pounding and jar-

In his private life, he becomes vague. He will ask a question, nod ns it is answered, and-ask it again. He fails to take in what is said. He talks too much. He stares. In severe cases his voice sounds muddy. As he watches a fight he punches the air, identified with the circling figures in the ring. Medical experts believe that any blow on the head mars the functioning of the brain, that any violent sport where head and face injuries are the order of the day is attended by the very real peril of "punch-drunkenness."

THE TRIALS OF MOSCOW

a Backward

MOSCOW IN THE MAKING By Sir E. D. Simon and Others (Longmans, 7s. 6d.)

COSCOW suffers because of lts Trials. For every paragraph on the Presidium we read a page about the Public Prosecutor, and it is almost easier to understand the confessions than the commissariats.

But the problem is now at least partially solved by this informed, unprejudiced book which tells a graphic story of the building of a model city, the education of its population, the organisation of its finances and its industries in a manner never previously attempted.

The authors—Sir Ernest Simon, Lady Simon, Dr. W. A. Robson and Profeasor Jewkes-spent a month in Moscow; their guides, the officials of the City and the monumental Soviet Communism by the Webbs.

Each of them investigated separately one aspect of Moscow life-and each has brought back a report which will fascinate the general reader and be invaluable to the student of local government, not least for the illuminating comparisons with English conditions.

Excellent as are the other sections

(notably those on education, housing and the ten-year plan), the most satisfactory contribution is that of Dr. Robson's on "The City Government of Moscow.

In this he examines the actual constitution and administration of the municipal authorities, the opportunities they provide for democratic action and the repressive limitations inherent in the system.

ing made again "takes away one's breath," he says frankly. "But there is another side to the matter. It requires a personal visit to appreciate not only the spiritual fervour which is driving the Bolshevika forward to great accomplishments, but also the fanatical intolerance which is holding them ing free discussion on vital public issues, the rigid party pronunciamentos on this and that and the other thing, the exclusion of foreign newspapers and books, the overlapping of political control into every conceivable spherethese are the instruments of repression rather than of creation."

Hongkong Clipper "On Time" On Inaugural Flight From Manila

INTERNATIONAL GOODWILL CREATED BY EXPANSION OF AIR COMMERCE

The United States of America and Australia heard the description of the arrival of Pan-American Airways Hongkong Clipper at Kai Tak at noon to-day when the last link in the round-the-world air services was forged between this Colony and Manila.

In broadcast speeches which carried messages of goodwill to China and thousands of listeners on other continents, His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, Mr. N. L. Smith, welcomed the Clipper which was afterwards christened by Miss Judith Smith.

Some 400 official guests and over 4,000 spectators were present as the giant plane droned over Hongkong and circled the harbour. She made a quiet landing on unruffled water at five minutes before noon, British Monarchy Firmly Rooted London, Apr. 27. The Souvenir Programme for the Coronation, drawn up under the auspices of King George's Jubilee Trust, will be available to the public throughout the Empire to-morrow.

In order to meet the Empire demand it has been necessary to prepare no fewer than twelve separate editions. These facts were revealed by the Duke of Gloucester, who, as Chairmain of King George's Jubilee Trust, presided at a luncheon at St. James' Palace to celebrate the publication of the programme.

Most of the 150 guests assisted in the preparation or distribution of the programme. The Prince mentioned that the Overseas Edition had been despatched to the furthermost parts of the world as long ago as February. This was followed by special editions prepared for Canada and Australia, New Zenland, South Africa and India, while more recently nearly 100,000 copies had been sent to the United States.

The Duke of Gloucester concluded by quoting from his own foreword to the programme: "If the people of the British Empire are brought into more intimate touch by the Coronntion Ceremony, on that day and at that hour when they are all more than ever in the thoughts and prayers of Their Majesties, then indeed King George's Jubilee Trust will have performed a service."

MONARCHY FIRMLY ROOTED

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Dominions, thanking the Duke of Gloucester for presiding, declared that the British monarchy had never been more firmly rooted than to-day in the soil of British

"The fact is due largely to the personalities of our Kings and Queens and the way in which they have identified themselves in the last quarter of a century with the fluctuaing fortuntes of the British people; and also in the way in which they have served their subjects.

"But during the past quarter of a century the Crown has achieved a new and greater significance. One of the changes that has been taking place is the growth of freedom throughout the Empire. The Dominlons are partners of Great Britain in the British Commonwealth of free and equal nations, and during the process of the age many old constitutionalities between the Dominions and this country have been broken. But one firm constitutional link remains,—the Crown.

WITH snusnges and eggs one can make many tasty dishes, and here are some suggestions for favourite ways of using them.

Country Captain

This makes a tasty dish. Cut 1 lb. sausages into halves length-ways. Line a deep piedish with them. Make one pint white snuce, pour some over the sausages and sprinkle with some brown bread-crumbs. Put in a layer of chopped hard-boiled eggs and a little more sauce, then a good layer of crumbs.
Pour over the remainder of the snuce, then a good layer of crumbs. Pour over the remainder of the sauce, and bake slowly for half an

Sausages and Carrots

An appetising dish for dinner is made by using this recipe. Take 11/2 or 2 lb, sausages and boll in a little water. Slice two or three carrots in rings and boil with the sausages until cooked. When cooked, take out the sausages and thicken the liquid with a little cornflour (with the carrots in). Serve with mashed potatoes.

Egg and Sausage Doughnuts

Delicious for breakfast or supper are these doughnuts.

Chop two hard-boiled eggs, add two tablespoonfuls each breadcrumbs and grated cheese, a pinch of curry powder, and a dust of cayenne pepper. Bind together with a beaten egg. Form into balls, dip in batter, and fry a golden brown.

Fry the required amount of pork sausages formed into rings by tying ends of sausages together. When done, lift out of pan, place two rings of sausage on each plate, and place two egg balls in each ring. Scatter a little grated cheese over before

Sausage Rings

Take 1 lb. sausages, dip into boiling water then skin them. Cut into rounds with a pastry cutter six slices bread, then with a smaller cutter cut a ring out of the centre, thus making rings of the bread. Mince the scraps of bread left over, place in a dish and add the sausages meat, a teaspoonful powdered sage, 1 oz. oatmeal, and pepper and salt to taste. Bind with two eggs well beaten, mix well and form into balls. Roll in breadcrumbs, and cook in a pan of deep fat for ten minutes until a golden brown. Fry the rings of brend until brown on both sides. Place on a hot dish, press a sausage ball into the centre and serve very hot.

A Favourite Dish

This is a favourite dish. Take three pork sausages, remove the skin and break them into small pieces. Chop an onion finely and remove the pips and skins of two tomatoes. Cook the sausage meat and onions first in butter at the foaming stages. When nearly done, andd the tomatoes, cut in small pieces. Season well and put into a piedish. Break four eggs over it, sprinkle with grated cheese, and cook in the

Everybody loves a healthy, smiling baby. There is no reason why your baby should not be as attractive and lovable as the one in this picture. Health and happiness should be the birthright of every child but some parents unthinkingly neglect the simple ailments of childhood which may lead to more serious disorders. Castoria is made to correct colic, diarrhea, sour stomach, indigestion and constipation. Castoria tastes so good that your child will love to take it. Absolutely harmless, Castoria can be given safely to the smallest baby. Inexpensive, too, a bottle of Castoria con-

DEBT TO SEAMEN

-Reuter Bulletin Bervice.

London, Apr. 27. Something of what the River Thames meant to London of the past as a highway linking the city and its merchants with Westminster and its Parliament, and leading out to the seas beyond, where British mariners carried freights of Britain's commerce, were recalled to-day by the King and Queen's triumphant progress in an Admiral's barge, with a naval escort, down the river to Greenwich, where the King opened the National Maritime Museum.

The day was bright and sunny and great crowds had gathered along the embankments, on the bridges and wharves and the decks of ships moored alongside. Their cheers mingled with the screams of ships' sirens and the roaring of aeroplanes overhead. In declaring the Museum open the King said but for the enterprise, courage and character of British seamen, the British Commonwealth of Nations would never have come into existence. The qualities of Drake, Nelson and Franklin were as necessary to-day as ever in the post, and it was well that the exploits of men such as these should be recalled so that the part which scamen had played in Britain's history might never be forgotten.—British Wireless.

DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

TO THE DOMINATION OF THE SWORD .--

Receiving injuries caused when a painter's ladder fell on him while he was walking in Elgin Street, a man, Chan Chiu, was taken to the Government Civil-Hospital-yesterday, Suffering from the effects of immersion, Leung Fong-ylu, aged 40, was taken to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday. Leung fell into the harbour from the Vehicular Ferry Wharf, Connaught Road.

Two hours after he was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from serious injuries received when he fell from the third floor verandah of No. 28 Western Street, a man, Lai Yuen-kong, died at 10 p.m. yesterday. It is alleged that Lai threw himself from the verandah to end his life.

Stating that he had fought because his wife had been alleged to have many sweethearts, Chan Ng was bound over in $15 to keep the peace for one year when he appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with disorderly behaviour by fighting. Sub-Inspector Armitt said defendant was arrested when he was seen fighting with another man in Jubilee Street yesterday. The other man was taken into custody also, but managed to escape on the way to the Police Station.

EXPULSION ORDER MADE

Missing the steamer on which they worked in Shanghai last week, two young Americans got on board the President Hoover and stowed away to Hongkong. When the ship arrived here last Saturday they The President said he had been managed to get ashore undetected warning the public against specula- and later went to see the American Consul, who sent them to the police.

The men, Jack R. Dilliner, 21, and Henry Nidever, 20, were brought before Mr. K. Keen, at the Central Magistracy this marning, charged with having entered the Colony with-

Det.-Sergeant' Russell stated that arrangements were being made to send defendants out of the Colony during this week.

ABANDONING AIRSHIPS

Washington, Apr. 27.

General Westover has testified to the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives that the U.S. Army is abandoning the use of nirships, principally because of the lack of appropriations, but will continue to utilise balloons until some substitute is found.—United Press.

tures of 'the agreement had been criticised by Labour and Liberal speakers on the grounds that it was inopportune at a time when trade negotiations might be impending to diminish the clusticity of the turiff

The President of the Board of Trade recommended the agreement as part of the Government's general policy of reducing trade barriers. The duty reductions covered about forty per cent, of British trade with Canada. He thanked the Canadian Government for having met the British most generously. The agreement would increase Imperial trade without increasing a single duty on foreign goods on either side.

It is the constant aim of His Majesty's Government's policy in all spheres to attain the greatest possible measure of political appeasement! and economic collaboration, declared the President of the Board of Trade in answer to a question in the House to-day.-British Wireless.

COLLECTIVE ACTION AGAINST DISEASE

When sailing ships gave place to steamships in the last century, not only did passengers travel more easily and safely so also did disease. Great Britain and other Western countries were menaced with cholera and other plagues brought by ships from the East, and each country tried to protect itself with quarantine rules of its own. They did not succeed. Trade was delayed and disease still entered freely and frequently. Each epidemic after 1851 was followed by an International Conference and it soon became clear that only by having a common quarantine system and an international body to administer it could the nations be freed from danger. It took forty years to persuade Governments to face the facts and accept international control. This they did at long last in 1892. Since the invention of wireless and the creation of the League of Nations it has become possible to fight disease by an easier and cheaper international method. As the Far East is the danger spot, the League has established an Eastern Office of its Health Organisation at Singapore. This office is in contact with some 180 ports all over the Indian and Pacific Oceans and receives from those ports and supplies to them by wireless rapid notification regarding epidemics. To show how the League Office works an example may be taken of a ship from China arriving, say, at Sydney which is known to have touched during its voyage at aport where a number of cases of plague have occurred since the ship left. The rats on board may therefore be infected. Singapore broadcasts the news quarantine. In this way the which is picked up in Australia League has saved the world's and the health authorities Sydney are informed. As consequence, on the ship's artins of Three Bear Oats rival steps are taken to prevent telligence work; the League's will be presented with the rats coming on shore and. possibly infecting the shore rats with plague. The ship is moored some distance off the quay-

side, the cargo unloaded in

First of all, here is a test which, if you follow it conscientlously, will tell you round about what age you will die. At the same time, most of the fifteen questions it asks gives you.
some sound advice which should help you to increase that age. If it comes out that you haven't as long to live as you would like, then these questions give you your remedy.

Naturally, the "Methuselah test" cannot be regarded as scientifically accurate, and therefore shouldn't be taken too seriously; but it gives a rough general indication, and in any case the mere answering of the questions is a good mental exercise. They are based on research work by psychologists and doctors, and one of the questions is supplied by a doctor who recently died at the age of a hundred.

The age is arrived at by a system of marking, which at first may look a little complicated, but which is, in fact, quile simple.

Did you know we had a new small province where you fight your best friend after a drink?

OUR years ago, in a Kitzbuhel cafe, I asked a waiter for a dry Martini. He brought me three * (bless

At that same cafe the other day I made the same request. "Very good, sir," came the answer. "With or without angostura bitters?"

It is the same in the shops. One's exit is no longer followed by that sweet lilting Austrian "Auf wledersehen," but by the formal "Goodbye, Sirl" of the English grocer.

Kitzbuhel has become thoroughly Anglicised. Plumbers have been busy all the summer installing new baths, for it is well known that the English are a dirty race. They have to bathe at least once a day.

PACON-AND-EGGS are now on the breakfast menu of every hotel and pension. Large stock of whisky have been imported for the first time.

A casino, to gratify the well-worn English theory-"Man is by nature a gambling animal" -does a flourishing trade. A supply of kippers from Lowestoft is ordered each week by the "Goldene Gems" cafe.

Even sleepy little nearby Kirchberg, which marks the finish of one of the ski-runs, has come under our influence.

Little boys from the local one day when I was being shavschool hover round the church ed there. (where one takes off one's skis ."What a wonderful singer," to carry them to the bus-stop or remarked, in German. I relapsed station), rush up on one's arrival into English to ask whether it my head. and ask, "Carry your skis, sir?" was a he or a she.

STRIVING TO LIFT FERRY

An attempt will be made to salvage the Star Ferry Night Star at high tide to-night. At low tide this afternoon steel hawsers will secure the ferry to the pontoons, tanks and tups shown in the photograph, and it is hoped that their buoyancy will be sufficient to lift the ferry from its bed of mud and

No attempt will be made to take the ferry to dock. It will be removed from the vicinity of the wharf and again let down n to the bed of the harbour so that more permanent arrangements can be made for transporting the Int's, across the harbour. ARRANGED FOR TO-MORROW

The annual meeting of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association will be held in the Board Room of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson- and Co., at 5.30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday).

Afterwards there will be a meeting of the Council to receive entries for the tennis league and to elect an executive committee.

The annual report shows that a .financial loss of $427.26 was incurred on the year's working, though the league showed a profit of 5235.20.

The report reads as follows. Executive Committee has much pleasure in submitting the unnual report for 1936 of the liongkong Lawn Tennis Association.

LEAGUE

The League was run very successfully and proved to be as popular as usual. The new "D" Division was continued and was very well supported. It is hoped that the usual number of entries will be received for all divisions this season.

If He Is To Win

To-day's l'ennis Match PROSPECTS

(By "Verlias")

At eight o'clock this morning the weather looked anything but promising for to-day's tennis championship semi-sinal between E. C. Fincher and S. A. Rumjahn. A drizzle was falling and further rain threatened. It is to be hoped there will be sufficient improvement to enable the match to be played, otherwise the organisers will be seriously handicapped in their efforts to bring the tournament to a close. In the assumption that the pame will be played, I have made an effort to analyse the chances of the competitors in the accompanying article. mould add that if the court is at all on the soft side, Fincher should enjoy an advantage which may well turn the game in his favour.

Perhaps there is nothing more curious about the history of the Hongkong singles tennis championship than the fact that despite their long associations with the tournament S. A. Rumjahn and E. C. Fincher have up to date met only once. This was in 1932 when they contested the final and Rumjahn won 6-2, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4. The following are the records of

To-day, then, they oppose each E.C. Fincher and S.A. Rumjahn in their semi-final appearances in the other in this event for the second Colony singles tennis championship time. But on this occasion it is the semi-final. So for as my records go this will be Fincher's sixth appearance in the semi-final. Thrice so far he has advanced to the ultimate stage, but never has he won the championship.

than Fincher's display that afternoon.

However, he need not worry about these lines: 1935 beat H.D. Rumjahn 11-9, 6-1, the 1931 tournament this afternoon. Or for that matter about the 1932 1936 lost to Tsui Wai-pui 1-6, 1-6, one, in which he bowed before his opponent of to-day.

Since then Fincher has learnt a lot about S. A. Rumjahn's tennis. The goes for Rumjahn concerning Finall square, although, of course, Rumjahn has the better record behind

Amateurs Opposed To Two Referees

HASTY ACTION BY THE ASSOCIATION

Law Would Be Made Optional

(By John Bell)

Forty thousand amateur clubs have ranged themselves in strong opposition to the prespective adoption of two referees for football through their County Associations by framing a resolution to be put to the annual general inceting of the F.A. in June.

At the same time Mr. W. C. Cuff (Vice-President of the Football League and sponsor of the scheme) emphasised to me that the amateurs had entirely "misconceived the posttion." "The two referee plan," he "was never intended to

(By "Verlias")

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sullivan (owe 15) yesterday won the Hongkong Cricket Club handleap mixed doubles dennis tournament, beating G. Polglase and Mrs. R. M. Wood (owe 4/6) by 8-6, 6-3, in the final,

The match was played on the stand court and watched by several people.

The winners were better balanced, with Sullivan enjoying a very distinct advantage when it came to service and in volleying. Polglase, though he went to the forecourt quite a lot displayed no decisive stroke from this position and missed several opporfunities by making poor shots. Sullivan was usually reliable on the volley, especially in the second set, land his smashing was also good.

Both ladies gave a neat performance Mrs. Sullivan drove confidently and fareefully on the forehand, but dared not venture to the net. Mrs. Wood had a very nice flat-racket drive on both hands, but she was inclined to mistime and constantly deared the

MET the other day one of the most pathetic figures in modern sport—a punch-drunk boxer.

Once he was famous, in line for a world champlonshipnow, in the middle thirties, he is a finished man.

The boxer who fights and fights till his every reflex action is conditioned by the ring; the boxer who takes punishment about the face and head over and over again; the boxer driven by stark need of money, sometimes by sheer hunger, to stagger into the ring and rely solely on his capacity to endure-this man is danger to the community and a peril to himself.

He becomes-in the vivid phrase coined by boxers themselves-

"punch-drunk," In the ring he gets beaten with comparative case. This puts his price down and consequently drives him to take more and more engagements-while he can still command them. He aims at the mark and hits the ribs. He sees a blow coming and dodges into it instead of away from It.

His face changes-externally developing · "cauliflower cars" and other stigata of the old "pug" because he can no longer avoid the blows that rain on him. But the spirit and mind mirrored in his face changes too; the brain becomes "Who would know aught of art lated bits and pieces, and delights in affected by the pounding and jar-

In his private life, he becomes vague. He will ask a question, nod as it is answered, and-ask it again. He falls to take in what is said. He talks too much. He stares. In severe cases his voice sounds muddy. As he watches a fight he punches the air, identified with the circling agures in the ring. Medical experts believe that any blow on the head mars the functioning of the brain, that any violent sport where head and face injuries are the order of the day is attended by the very real peril of "punchdrunkenness."

THE TRIALS OF MOSCOW

a Backward

MOSCOW IN THE MAKING By Sir E. D. Simon and Others (Longmans, 7s. 6d.)

OSCOW suffers because of Its Trials. For every paraagraph on the Presidium we read a page about the Public Prosecutor, and it is almost easier to understand the confessions than the commissariats.

But the problem is now at least partially solved by this informed, unprejudiced book which tells a graphic. story of the building of a model city. the education of its population, the organisation of its finances and its industries in a manner never previously attempted.

The authors—Sir Ernest Simon, Lady Simon, Dr. W. A. Robson and Pro-Jewkes—spent a month in Moscow: their guides, the officials of the City and the monumental Soviet Communism by the Webba.

Each of them investigated separately one aspect of Moscow-life-and each has brought back a report which will fascinate the general reader and be invaluable to the student of local government, not least for the illuminating comparisons with English conditions. Excellent as are the other sections (notably those on education, housing and the ten-year plan), the most satisfactory contribution is that of Dr. Robson's on "The City Government of Moscow." In this he examines the actual constitution and administration of the municipal authorities, the opportunities they provide for democratic action and the repressive limitations inherent in the system.

The manner in which Moscow is being made again "takes away one's breath," he says frankly. "But there is another side to the matter. It requires a personal visit to appreciate not only the spiritual fervour which is driving the Bolsheviks forward to great accomplishments, but also the fanatical intolerance which is holding them on this and that and the other thing, the exclusion of foreign newspapers. and books, the overlapping of political control into every conceivable sphere-

With so much achieved already, what by a democratic sedative?

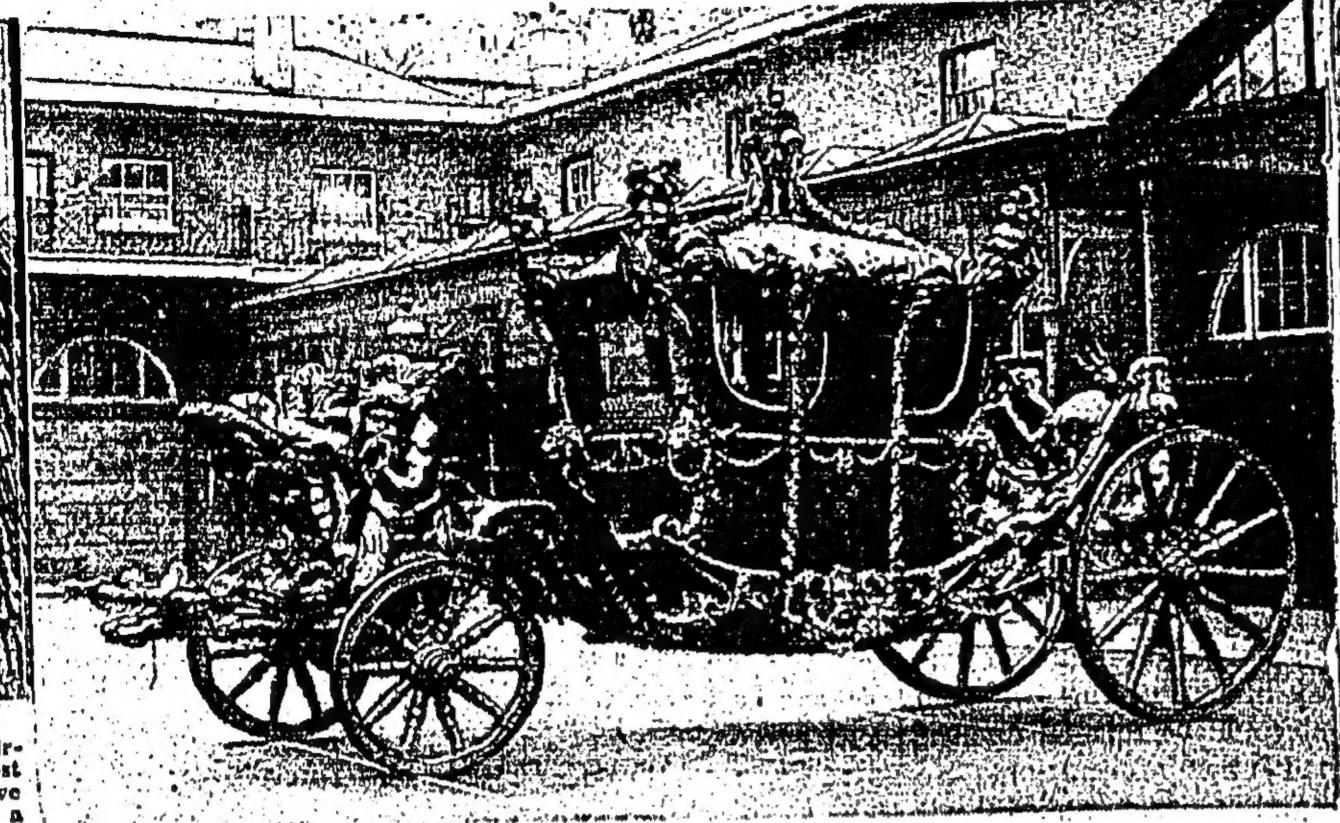

"The absence of anything approaching free discussion on vital public issues, the rigid party pronunciamentos

these are the instruments of repression rather than of creation," could not Moscow do with this repressive side, a "hangover from the period . of revolutionary struggle," shaken off

The House of Commons to-day agreed to the Budget resolution authorising the imposition of the National Defence Contribution, otherwise known as the Growth of Profits Tax.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of Exchequer, said he was convinced the outlined scheme was right and he had no intention of withdrawing his proposals, in spite of the opposition from members on his own side of the House.

That part of the proposals not yet formulated was sufficiently important to justify him in saying that no accurate or sufficient judgment could be formed upon it in the junk. until the House and country had fuller information. He regarded the proposal as mild and moderate and did not think it would impose an intolerable burden on industry.

There might even be a combination of both schemes.

Mr. Chamberlain intimated that he would provide for the variation of the rate of interest which would be regulated in relation to the capital standard. He explained that capital, for purposes of the Defence Contribution, did not mean share capital but a computed figure representing assets, subject to certain adjustments. It will be recalled that the Growth of Profits Tax may be levelled either on profits or on the capital of the company.

Preventing Injustice

He was now obtaining information and was in personal contact with persons of great financial and in-dustrial experience, said Mr. Cham-berlain. He had also received communications from a number of important bodies, such as the Associated Chambers of Commerce and the Chamber of Shipping, while the Federation of British Industries was, collecting a large body of information. He would examine their proposals with greatest sympathy, the Chancellor declared, and would do his best in the light of what they told him to meet all difficulties and prevent inequalities and injustice.

Finally, he added, he would make his decision as soon us possible.-Reuter.

Critics Answered

London, Apr. 27. The Chancellor of the Exchequer spoke in the House of Commons tonight on the Budget resolution relating to the proposed National De-fence Contribution. He scouted the claim of the Opposition that the proposal was the main cause of the falls of industrials and other ordinary shares on the London Stock Exchange, and reminded the House that Continental bourses were likewise disturbed, where no such proposal was in question, but admitted that the uncertainty regarding the new tax was an element in the London market's depressed condition. He repeated the explanation of the vagueness of the scheme, that the necessity of Budget secrecy prevented his obtaining the advice he desired before completing details.

Mr. Chamberlain expressed surit had been suggested be done by what he regarded as a mild and moderate proand, claiming that the Treasury was in a reasonably good position to estimate the effects of the proposed taxation, recalled that he was not, expecting a higher yield than between 20 and 25 million in the financial year 1938-1939. Surely that was not an intolerable burden

Armed Men Raid Boat

Woman Climbs Mast For Safety

An armed robbery, in which six men armed with revolvers made off with $130 in money and $145 worth of jewellery, was reported to the police last night.

Cheung Lam, 32-year-old married woman, stated that she was on her junk No. 28 H.C. in Cheung Chau harbour at 9.30 p.m. yesterday when robbers attacked her boat.

At the time, she was in her cabin with her six-year-old son, while the maid, the only other occupant of the junk, was in the hold at the stern of the boat. She saw three men on the deck and shouted out "who are you?" One of the men replied and as a he flashed a torch into the cabin she saw that he held a revolver. She immediately closed the cabin door and getting out through the trap door of the cabin ran along to the mast of the ship and climbed up it. One of the robbers tried to stop her but was unsuccessful. From her position Cheung began calling out "Save life!" and in doing TO - MORROW so saw one of the robbers coming out of her husband's concubine's cabin, carrying a leather box. The three men then got on to a Hoklo type junk lying alongside her own, and made off towards North Point. There were three other armed men

Coming down from her point of refuge, Cheung immediately went about finding the extent of her loss and learned that $130 in money was gone, one pair of gold bangles worth $100, two gold rings worth $20 and a gold hairpin worth $25. Clothes to
